With the blessings of our elders and a lot of love in our hearts, we're so happy to invite you to celebrate our wedding in Indore. 😊✨

What began with easy conversations and silly jokes slowly grew into something deeper, kinder, and truly special. Over time, friendship turned into partnership, and now we're at a moment where it feels right to stand together and say yes to a lifetime ahead.

As we step into this new chapter, we keep thinking of all the people who've been part of our stories so far—family who've shaped us, friends who've seen us at our best and our worst, and everyone who's cheered us on in quiet, unspoken ways. Having you with us as we get married isn't just about attending a function; it's about sharing a milestone that means the world to both of us.

We're dreaming of days filled with familiar faces, warm hugs, shared memories, inside jokes, happy chaos, and a few inevitable happy tears. We can already picture the laughter, the badly coordinated dance moves, and the small moments in between that we'll remember for years.

Your presence, your blessings, and your joy will make our celebrations feel complete—and a little more like home.

With Love,

Aastha & Preetesh
